ROOTS IN MEXICO CITY COLLECTED TO DESIGN OF DIAZ AND CORRAL TO RESIGN

signed in accordance with public expectation.

Last Night's Mob.
Toward 9 o'clock the mob demonstration was at its height. Shouts for Madero were heard everywhere and processions moved through the leading streets bearing huge portraits of the revolutionary leader. Efforts to check the fury of the outbreak were made by Madero's personal representative, Alfredo Robles Dominguez, but the disorder continued, finding its chief center in front of the presidential palace. Arming themselves with rocks, the mob bombarded nearby buildings, including the newspaper office of El Imparcial and the Tampico News company.

Troops Take Part.
Large forces of troops were hurried to the scene and a cordon was thrown about the presidential palace. Twice the orders to disperse were given to the manifestants, but without avail. Thereupon the soldiers opened fire. Immediately there was a scene of the wildest confusion. The more timid rioters fled to nearby streets and alleys, while the leaders gave ground slowly before the advancing forces, who still kept up the fire. Slowly, however, the mob was broken up, although detached bodies continued demonstrations at various points throughout the city.

Mob Fired Into.
Enraged by the announcement that president Diaz and vice president Corral did not resign yesterday, spectators in the galleries of the chamber of deputies precipitated a riot that resulted in many dead and wounded. The mob wound about the streets and stoned the presidential palace, where it was fired on.

Until 9 o'clock the mob encountered practically no opposition and apparently little resistance was necessary. Shouting "vivas" for Madero, they raided the streets of the capital but always in an orderly fashion except for the noise.

Occasional instances of vandalism were condemned by the thousands of marching men who joined in shouts of "order, order." At 8:30 o'clock it appeared that the crowd was dispersing. The main body had been broken into smaller groups, but at that time some of these had grown more demonstrative in the big plaza in front of the palace and the police determined that the time had come for drastic measures. The shouting, gesticulating mass of humanity was warned to disperse by the horns of better treatment early in the evening caused them to receive with derision the order of the police.

Crowds Are Defiant.
Again they were told to disperse and again no attention was paid to the order. Quickly their shouts changed to cries of "vivas" for Madero. They were turned into cries of anguish, for the guns of the police and the soldiers were throwing into their midst a hail of bullets. The living stumbled in a mad rush over the bodies of the dead and wounded.

The narrow streets leading from the Zocalo were jammed with fleeing men and women. For a few minutes the streets were still, but a gathering on the street corners of the new five o'clock mob as well as frightened partisans of Madero resulted in another order to fire at will. Sharper and longer now came the shooting. The mob fled, but contrary to all traditions of Mexico, the troops had not yet intimidated the rioters to the point where they were willing to submit. The force of the iron hand was weakening and despite the death it had brought, the rioters refused to do more than scatter into miniature mobs each shouting for Madero and yelling for the government's downfall.

Set Fire to Newspaper.
Twice soldiers fired on the mob. The second time they were fired on by which had stoned the building occupied by El Imparcial and set it on fire. El Imparcial, which continued to prepare for publication despite the attacks made on the building, was far as to place the estimate at 20 dead, mostly at the Zocalo.

The police at midnight estimated the dead in the Zocalo at five or six and the wounded at between 40 and 45.

Business Suspended.
In this city business was suspended at 6 o'clock. By 11 o'clock last night the street cars, several of which had been stoned, ceased running. Not a single business establishment was open.

The elements favored the demonstration for the first time in weeks, rain did not fall in the early evening. The clouds withheld their burden until 10 o'clock. With the downpour the crowds which in the aggregate numbered thousands, began to disappear rapidly and at midnight only a band of a hundred or so continued marching.

Diaz Very Ill.
Gen. Diaz, who has reserved the capitals' quarters on a Hamburg American liner due to sail from Veracruz on the last day of the month, continues very ill, despite recent optimistic official reports. He is receiving absolutely no visitors.

A heavy guard was maintained in front of the presidential residence throughout the night.

Madero Diaz told a visitor this afternoon that the president's condition was warm milk. His condition is regarded as serious by his family. Senora Diaz is authority for the statement that the president is suffering from a high fever.

His condition is not considered immediately dangerous, but is worse than it has been for days.

Tries to Stem the Mob.
Foreseeing the tragic possibilities in the demonstration, Alfredo Robles Dominguez, Madero's representative, at the beginning of the disorders secured the publication of a plea for moderation. In an extra of El Heraldo, in the name of Madero, he urged the people to resort to no violence, assuring them that he had personal knowledge that the resignations of Diaz and Corral would be offered today.

This extra was distributed to the mob free of cost but the story which appeared to interest them more than the statement of Dominguez was that of failure of Diaz and Corral to resign.

Many Windows Broken.
Up to that time the temper of the crowd was still such that it could be appealed to the small merchants, but within a few minutes stones were being thrown here and there despite the oft-shouted demand for order. Within an hour their path could be readily sought by broken windows in business houses. One of the buildings to suffer considerable damage was that occupied by the Tampico News company, an American mercantile house. A cordon of police was thrown about the place to prevent looting.

The mob obtained the stones for its use from the Zocalo where there were piles of broken rock that was to be used in laying paths. From this source they also obtained cobblestones. Just around the corner from this street is the building of El Imparcial, a government newspaper, and there was perhaps the first evidence of the lawlessness when the mob began stoning.

Students in Riot.
Following the dispersal of the main body of the mob, there marched down one street and up another, a crowd of a totally different character, a student demonstration marching like soldiers. The young men were well dressed and betraying every indication of belonging to the better class, were singing the Mexican national hymn.

Carried Madero's Picture.
A typical mob which had repeatedly moved through Avenida San Francisco, numbering 1000. In the vanguard an immense lithograph of Madero fastened to a wooden cross was carried. Next came the Mexican flag, carried by the men on foot, and following this was borne an enlarged photograph of Madero fastened to a broom.

As the demonstration started from the chamber of deputies after that body had been in session more than an hour and when it became known that the resignations of president Diaz and vice president Corral were not to be presented yesterday.

Women Leads Mob.
When the crowd started on its march it was led by a coach in which stood a young woman of the better class. She carried a Mexican flag and urged the men about her to a greater pitch of excitement. Beside her stood a young man holding aloft a large framed picture of Madero.

About the city they made their way, growing in numbers with every step they traversed. They made a wide detour and attempted to include in their line of march the residence of the president. At the first notice of the gathering of the crowd, two armed squads of mounted police were rushed to the location. As the crowd approached, the guards were placed four deep. Feeble efforts were made by the shouting archers, who up to this time were in the best of humor, to disperse the mob toward the presidential residence but they evidently thought better of it and contented themselves by waving their banners in that direction, shouting "renuncia, renuncia" (resign, resign), and the usual plaudits for Madero.

Many Crowds Gather.
While this contingent was making its way about town, several other similar aggregations sprang up and started independent tours. By night fall—the original demonstration started soon after 5 o'clock—there were at least four separate bands in action.

Leaving the vicinity of the presidential residence, the original crowd marched through the center of the city and headed back to the chamber of deputies. It was a heterogeneous crowd. Behind the coach with the girl in white, walked a street vendor carrying half a dozen plumbers' batons, poles with tufts of feathers at the end for dusting ceilings. To the end of the one of these the girl fixed a lithograph of Madero.

Crowds loaded until the springs were bent double, with here and there a man crowded in among the men and boys, followed.

Indians with blankets over their shoulders tramped and shouted aside by side of the nearly dressed youths. From the windows along the way handclapping and cheers answered the shouts from the street.

Squads of mounted police trailed the mob, but the crowd offered no opposition to their progress.

Mobs in Many Places.
Telegraphic reports were received last night stating that demonstrations were in progress at Toluca, Cuernavaca, and Zacatecas. The federal governor of Jalisco, Manuel Cuesta Gallardo, was driven out.

At Zacatecas the troops fired on the mob, killing four. Further details are lacking.

City of El Paso, together with such recommendations seem to me will meet the requirements of the city for the ensuing year.

Deficits Reported.
The departments that overran their appropriations are given below with the amount of deficit:

Sanitary department	$4,312.96
Police department	$2,315.35
Fire department	$1,551.35
Engineering department	$3,615.03
Park department	$2,354.77
Free library department	$15.07
Street maintenance dept.	$5,625.54
Sewer department	$2,374.56
City hall department	$7,012.56
Scavenger department	$4,719.05

City sealer department	$62.50
Building inspector dept.	$85.00
Total	$60,342.85

This amount has been advanced by the banks of the city and must be paid out of the amount just collected for the running expenses for the fiscal year of 1911. The paying of these deficits of the several departments will leave some of them with an almost depleted treasury as you will see by the following comparison:

Department	Deficit
Sanitary	$4,312.96
Police	$2,315.35
Fire	$1,551.35
Engineering	$3,615.03
Park	$2,354.77
Free library	$15.07
Street maintenance	$5,625.54
Sewer	$2,374.56
City hall	$7,012.56
Scavenger	$4,719.05
City sealer	$62.50
Building inspector	$85.00
Total	$60,342.85

"You will understand that in recommending the budget for 1911, I did so only after I had scrutinized every item of expense in each department and cut out everything except what I felt to be absolutely necessary. Now the departments above referred to will have to be run for the ensuing year very economically or again create a deficit."

"This is an every anxious to avoid and expect the hearty cooperation of the heads of all the departments in cutting down expenses within the available cash on hand."

To facilitate this I would recommend that a resolution be passed by the council requiring the heads of all departments to make a written request to the alderman who is chairman of that department, who after investigation will approve the same and then send the request to a committee to be appointed by the mayor who shall have the final power of ordering or rejecting the purchase of articles requested. If this committee allows request, then the purchasing agent will be ordered to purchase.

"I feel that this close supervision will tend to economize all the expenses of the different departments and keep a perfect check upon all expenses."

Proposes Storehouse.
"I also recommend that the land purchased by the city, situated on Magoffin street, be improved by building a general storehouse for the purpose of storing all supplies of every nature used by the city, and employ a storehouse keeper. All feed and supplies will be charged to this general store and the duty of this storekeeper will be to deliver and charge all supplies to each and every department and keep a correct record of same."

"I am confident by doing this and buying all supplies in large and whole quantities we can save the city many dollars."

"In the general fund there also exists a large deficit, $258,355.88, of which $100,000 has been set aside for the purpose of paying street intersections for which no provision was made when bonds for the revolving paving fund were sold."

Gas Reduction.
"Much of the balance of this deficit has been long existing and passed on from one administration to another. The general fund shows a deficit:

In 1908 of	$10,218.48
In 1909 of	$17,985.55
In 1910 of	$1,653.35
In 1911 of	$18,353.51

Making a total deficit at this date of $258,355.88.

"Seventeen thousand dollars of our 1911 deficit was occasioned by the necessary purchase of land at Washington park for the erection of garbage and sewage disposal plants for the reason that the land originally purchased for that purpose could not be used. The work on this plant is progressing satisfactorily and will be completed and the plant installed within the time limit."

Regarding the revolving paving fund, a word here may not be amiss: Bonds to the amount of $200,000 were originally sold, the purpose being to cover the cost of paving their frontage, said bonds to be repaid in four equal annual installments, thus keeping the fund intact against final liquidation of the bonds. This fund is frequently annulled and has today $200,000 in cash in valid claims.

School Debt Large.
"The school trustees report will show a deficit of about $34,000 in round figures, at commencement of this next school year."

Total City Debt.
"Thus it will be seen that the total floating debt of the city as of April 1, 1911, is $402,588.73, and inasmuch as the city is paying interest at the rate of 6 percent on the outstanding warrants covering same, I deem it advisable that we arrange to refund at least a part of this indebtedness at a lower rate of interest."

"Our present taxable values are in excess of $30,000,000, while our outstanding bonds are $1,653,000—considerably less in proportion than other Texas cities of prominence."

"I therefore wish to submit to the taxpayers of our city a proposal to issue 5 percent bonds, the proceeds to be devoted to covering the larger part of the deficit in the departments above mentioned, and to make necessary enlargements in our school buildings, and to build a new schoolhouse in the Bassett addition which is very much needed, for which about $50,000 is necessary."

Condition of Parks.
"I beg to report that I have terminated the lease of Washington park and have taken charge of it in behalf of the city. All moneys collected from concessions and every other source will be placed in a fund called the 'Washington park fund,' and will be used solely for necessary improvements, in beautifying and keeping up the park so that it will be the breathing spot of the city."

"The work of beautifying and keeping up our city parks is being handled in a most efficient manner by park commissioner Harris."

"The fire department also takes care of the welfare of a growing city in a high state of efficiency, and I recommend that everything be done to keep it up to the needs of the city. The office of fire marshal has proved of great benefit to the city as an adjunct to the fire department."

Water Drainage.
"I beg to call your attention to the report of the superintendent of this department, for the six months ending March 31, 1911. The showing made therein is very satisfactory, but while we have a splendid record in the care of our outstanding bonds in this department, we must not lose sight of the fact that we also owe $150,000 in notes, due on October 1, 1911, $50,000; October 1, 1912, $50,000, and $50,000 due on October 1, 1913, and the profits earned will not be sufficient to take up and pay these notes as they mature. These notes must be paid and to that end I recommend that we provide ways and means to supplement the income derived from the earnings of this department, so that this indebtedness be paid up in the next three years, as it falls due."

"The creation of the office of building inspector has proved of great benefit to the city, and while the revenues derived therefrom during the past year has not been great, and a deficit of $865 is shown, still we have cut down the expense of the office $1500 per year and in the future it will, at least, be self supporting."

Plumbing and Electric Inspection.
"These offices are also of great benefit to the city, are well managed and are self sustaining."

School Efficiency.
"Our public school system compares favorably with the best in the state owing to the fact that the city employs the best teachers obtainable and pays better salaries for their services than any city in Texas."

"All grade and grade maps submitted have been approved by the city council. The engineering department is up to the standard in efficiency and is rendering valuable services to the city."

FLAG FOR CONSULATE.
The flagpole at the old Mexican consulate on Missouri street has been ordered to be removed to the new consulate on North Stanton, and the Mexican flag will be unfurled as soon as the pole is up.
